

Ike Predicts $4.2 Billion Budget Surplus

Governor
Replies To Teachers

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. David L. Lawrence, recently challenged to show leadership in increasing state aid to schools, Thursday cited in reply his support of a $5-million-dollar personal property tax.

The Pennsylvania State Education Assn. formally chastised Lawrence for what it said was his failure to give outright support to additional school subsidies.

The governor was asked at his news conference about the criticism. He noted that the Democratic-controlled House passed the personal property levy as a way of raising more money for schools.

Bill Shelved

"Apparently the leaders of that outfit don't consider that leadership," Lawrence continued.

The personal property tax proposal—a six-mill levy on mortgage investments and out-of-state stocks and bonds—was pigeonholed in the GOP-dominated Senate.

The governor hinted that if school groups wanted increased state subsidies they should have backed the personal property levy in the 1959 Legislature.

Lawrence reacted coolly to a suggestion by Rep. Albert W. Johnson, Republican floor leader, for an extended recess of the 1960 Legislature to see if 25 million dollars for education can't be squeezed out of existing revenue.

He suggested the idea smacked of "sleight-of-hand," and added emphatically:

"Let them put up the money on the line."

Delegates Uncommitted
Other news conference developments:

Politics—The governor renewed his position that the state's Democratic delegation is uncommitted to any presidential candidate, asserting:

"As far as the Democratic leadership in Pennsylvania is concerned, we are not declaring for any candidate at this time."

He invited Steelworkers President David J. McDonald to run as a delegate-at-large when the Democratic State Committee meets here Jan. 25 to elect a first batch of delegates.

He said any of the prominently mentioned Democratic candidates could beat Vice President Nixon, the probable Republican choice.

Highway Safety—Lawrence disclosed that he plans soon to toughen penalties for traffic violations. His legislative program for more drastic penalties failed to pass the 1959 session.

Harness Racing—Lawrence said he has been deluged with requests for appointment to a three-member, nonsalaried state harness racing commission authorized by the 1959 Legislature.

"I think everyone who has ever been in a stable wants to be appointed," he commented.

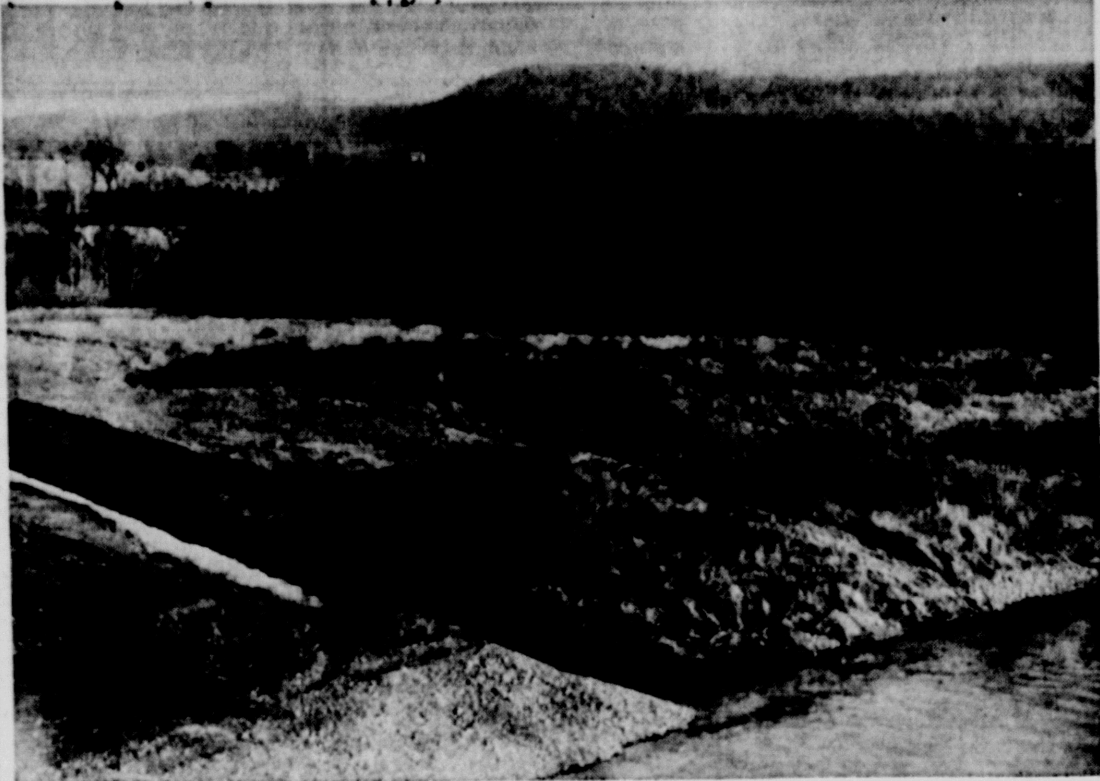

The commission will regulate parimutuel betting on harness racing in the state.

Protest Water Rate Increase

HARRISBURG (AP) — Protest hearings against a Northampton County water company's rate increase last month were granted Thursday by the Public Utility Commission.

It set Feb. 9-10 to hear complaints of seven municipalities against the 30 per cent rate rise by the Blue Mountain Consolidated Water Co. The increase was put into effect Dec. 1. It is estimated to raise $72,600 additional revenue annually.

The boroughs of Wind Gap, Tamaqua, Stockertown, Nazareth and Pen Argyl and Plainfield and Upper Nazareth Twp. raised the protests against the boost.

Final Word
Awaited
From Firm

THE ENGINEERING firm of Albright and Friel, consulting engineers for the proposed new East Stroudsburg Borough sewer system, has informed all contractors bidding on the project that no equipment will be moved onto the site of the sewage disposal plant until the engineering firm gives orders.

No reason for the orders were given by Borough Manager Sterling Cramer yesterday.

A tentative date of Jan. 15 for the start of construction had been mentioned earlier, but Cramer said no work will start until the engineers give the final word to begin.

Rep. Simpson
Dies; Served
Since 1937

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Richard M. Simpson, dean of Pennsylvania's Republican representatives in Congress, died Thursday at Bethesda (Md.) Naval Hospital. He was 59.

Simpson underwent brain surgery Dec. 14 at the hospital. His condition steadily worsened after the operation.

The Huntingdon, Pa., representative was elected to Congress 23 years ago, from the 18th District and had been re-elected for every session since. He was chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee.

Praised By Ike
President Eisenhower in formal statement called Simpson "a veteran and distinguished legislator who for many years had courageously and conscientiously served his district, the nation and the Republican Party."

In a telegram to his widow, Mae, Gov. David L. Lawrence said Simpson served Pennsylvania "with unsurpassed vigor, loyalty and intelligence" in Congress. He offered her his "sincere and deepfelt condolences."

Simpson was well known as a football player on the great Pitt teams coached by the famed Glenn (Pop) Warner in the early 1920s. He was a star guard on the team.

He was well-known for his political conservatism and was sometimes described by rival Democrats as the "representative in Washington of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Assn."

Overnight, the 2 by 4-mile floe, about 400 miles north-west of Barrow, Alaska, and some 600 miles from the North Pole, sheared to one-fourth its original size.

However, there was left 3,700 feet of runway on the landing strip bulldozed out last year and buildings at the camp remained firm, snug and warm.

Landings at the station during the winter when there is no light have become routine with the use of flares.

Maj. Phillip Peacock, public information officer for the 11th Air Division at Ladd, said evacuation of the camp would take about a week unless an unforeseen emergency arises. The men will be brought here or to Anchorage.

Two four-engine C130 transports were en route from Stewart Air Force Base, Tenn., to assist.

The camp was established last May to continue research work begun in the arctic during the International Geophysical Year.

Dr. Phil Church, head of the meteorology department at the University of Washington, said in Seattle the scientific team had been engaged in studies of oceanography, meteorology, seismology, study of the ocean bottom and depths, and of the earth's magnetic

Frankfurters Burn
As Trailer Fires Up

A FOWLER AND WILLIAMS tractor-trailer, loaded with frankfurters and other meats, plus typewriter paper rolls and steel, burned to the past saving point last night, one mile north of Snyder'sville.

The driver, who refused to be identified, was unable to say whether the fire was caused by brakes or a blown out tire.

Firemen from Pocono Twp. Fire Company of Tannersville were on the scene and kept the blaze minimized.

The driver, using strict caution, removed the tractor (cab) from the fire trailer to a spot of safety.

Five Lines
Pocono Twp. Fire Company had five units at the scene which caused a complete loss to the trailer.

The firemen from the Tannersville area directed traffic both ways on Route 12 which leads from Snyder'sville to Bartonsville and connect with Route 611.

The tractor-trailer was heading toward Scranton after picking up a load of merchandise at Philadelphia.

Celebrates 106th Birthday Year

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP) — Mrs. Carrie Keen Thursday celebrated her birthday—about No. 106.

Mrs. Keen, exercising her woman's prerogative, won't state her age. She won't even admit to 100 but told a reporter, "I'm too old."

Relatives, friends and her physician, Dr. Hugh Stevenson, said that through information and deductions they have arrived at 106.

Mrs. Keen, confined to a bed in the convalescent home at nearby Waymart, is "in excellent condition for her age" and loves to eat, said Dr. Stevenson.

About 35 friends and relatives attended a birthday party for her and the Pennsylvania Medical Society presented her a plaque "in recognition of one whose life span exemplifies healthful living."

$1,200 Stolen In Burglary

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — Merchandise and cash totaling more than $1,200 were stolen in an overnight burglary at Back Mountain Sporting Goods Store, Dallas Township.

It was the second time for the establishment to be entered since it was opened last summer. Guns and ammunition valued at more than $500 were stolen from there last September.

The former teacher, was charged in a transcript with unlawfully carrying a brief case a .38 calibre revolver and a .22 calibre revolver without benefit of permit or license.

The violation allegedly occurred last Oct. 21 when Gentile carried a brief case containing the guns into the school.

At a public meeting of the Northwest school board held last month Gentile was dismissed from his position effective Dec. 21.

Reds To Test
New Rocket
In Pacific

MOSCOW (AP) — The Russians said Thursday they will test a powerful new rocket, built to reach other planets, over the central Pacific within a few weeks. They asked that ships and planes keep out of the area where it will fall.

The rocket is expected to land in a target area roughly 1,000 miles east of the Marshall Islands, U. S. nuclear testing grounds.

The Russians did not say how many rockets would be fired, but indicated there will be more than one.

Without Final Stage
The rockets will be launched without their final stage, the stage that would become either a satellite or a spaceship reaching another planet.

Tass, official news agency, in an authorized statement said the tests were for the purpose of developing "a more powerful rocket to launch heavy earth satellites and undertake solar flights to planets of the solar system."

"With a view to perfecting this rocket with a high accuracy of flight, its launching without the last stage will be made within the coming months of 1960 into the central part of the Pacific Ocean, removed from places of intensive shipping, airlines and fisheries," the statement said.

Jan. 15-Feb. 15
The announcement said ships of the Soviet fleet will be sent to the target area to carry out necessary measurements, and the first launchings would be between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15.

It added: "To ensure the safety of navigation and air traffic during the launching of rockets into the central Pacific, Tass is authorized to announce that the government of the Soviet Union asks the government of the nations whose ships or aircraft may find themselves during this period in the vicinity of the area where the rockets might be seen that the authorities concerned instruct the ship masters and aircraft captains to refrain from entering the aquarium area and airspace of the Pacific designated."

Baby Taken From Home Of Mother

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The granddaughter of a prominent Kansas City banker was taken from her apartment home Thursday by two men, one of whom posed as a policeman.

The baby is Jan Clair Stevens, daughter of Mrs. William James Stevens, who filed suit for divorce against her husband last week.

Dupuy G. Warrick, the mother's attorney, first reported the child was taken by the husband, a Fort Lauderdale, Fla., cocktail lounge operator.

Father Accused
Later police said they were certain that one of the men was Stevens because a letter he had left with the child's babysitter bore his signature.

Mrs. Stevens is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Crosby Kemper. Kemper is chairman of the board of the City National Bank & Trust Co.

Successful Firing
CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A Polaris submarine missile, using a new guidance system, successfully hurled a dummy target 900 miles Thursday night. It provided the second undersea firing in 24 hours to President Eisenhower's State of the Union remarks on this nation's defense posture.

The proposed impact area described in the Soviet announcement is about 280 miles long by 160 miles wide.

The Soviet Union appears to be deliberately moving its missile tests down from the wide open spaces of the northern Pacific to the region of American interest in the central Pacific.

Assuming the launchings are from an area in eastern Siberia, the firing distances could be from 4,000 to 6,000 miles.

The U.S.S.R. already has been test firing ICBMs from the Eurasian mainland into the northern Pacific Ocean in an area generally east of the Kurile Islands chain and northern Japan.

Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell, who with Vice President Richard M. Nixon had been widely credited with engineering the actual settlement, said he knew nothing about Kennedy playing any part in the situation.

Tired Of Efforts
McDonald said many bankers and financiers were getting "sick and tired" of the continuing steel dispute's unsettling effects on the economy and the prospect of a renewed strike that could upset 1960 prosperity prospects.

Hayden Gets Off With Reprimand

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Actor Sterling Hayden got off with a mild reprimand Thursday for sailing his four children to Tahiti in defiance of a court order.

Superior Court Judge Emil Gumpert suspended a five-day jail sentence and $500 fine on condition that Hayden not take his children out of California without written consent of his ex-wife, Betty.

The judge said Hayden's voyage to the South Seas last year with the children was "reckless and foolish" but the court accepts his apology.

The judge, who had declared Mrs. Hayden an unfit mother after viewing certain exhibits behind closed doors, commented:

"For years he Hayden had labored to shield and protect them (the children), and to afford them a normal childhood. Indeed, this court felt impelled to express the wish that all children might be blessed with a love and a devotion, a concern and a care, equal to that which this father bestowed."

Traffic Discussion
Takes Place Today

A DISCUSSION of possible traffic patterns for next Summer while construction is under way on the second phase of the Stroudsburg Thruway will take place this afternoon at a meeting in the Municipal Building, Stroudsburg.

Spokesmen for a number of area organizations will meet at 1:30 p.m. with two representatives of the State Highway Department, Sidney Bloom, traffic engineer, and Theodore Henderson, assistant chief engineer for the Allentown District.

Rep. Van D. Yetter (D-Monroe), who arranged the meeting, said the discussion will deal principally with maintaining traffic between South Stroudsburg and Stroudsburg while work is in progress on the Broad St. Interchange and on the Seventh St. Bridge.

The Thruway will pass under the bridge, following the old railroad right-of-way, after alterations have been made on the southern abutment to accommodate four lanes of traffic. Certain other changes in the bridge construction also are planned.

Yetter said that under the contract signed between the state and J. H. Beers, contractor for the second phase, traffic must be maintained at all times on either Broad St. or Seventh St.

Even so, area organizations expect serious traffic problems to develop unless advance preparations are made to handle the heavy movement of vehicles during the Summer season.

One of the proposals is to send Routes 90, 209 and 402 traffic over the first phase of the Stroudsburg Thruway between Delaware Water Gap and East Stroudsburg. This phase is virtually completed under a contract held by J. D. Morrissey Co.

Today's discussions will be taken up further next Wednesday at a meeting of district highway officials and the Beers contracting firm in Allentown.

Among those who will attend today's meeting are Burgess, Edward A. Doran and Jesse R. S. Flory; Clifford Cramer, representing the Keystone Shortway Assn.; John M. Crandall, Pocono Mountains Motor Club; LeRoy Mikels, Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce; Jess Pierson, Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn.; C. Elwood Huffman, Eastern Pocono Resort Assn.; David Bernbaum, East Stroudsburg Businessmen's Assn.; Dr. Claude Leister, Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau; Stroudsburg Police Chief John Tretheway and East Stroudsburg Police Chief Travis Seese.

Russia Quickly Answers Ike's Praise Of Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union's answer to President Eisenhower's plug for U. S. missile achievements came in quick and precise fashion from Moscow Thursday night.

Less than six hours after Eisenhower told Congress that American intercontinental ballistic missiles have been traveling more than 5,000 miles and hitting within a two-mile target area, Moscow told the world:

No Advance Notice
Between Jan. 15 and Feb. 15, the Soviet Union will begin testing missiles by firing them into areas located about 1,000 miles from Hawaii and approximately the same distance from the Marshall Islands, used by the United States for testing big nuclear weapons.

A spokesman said the State Department had not received any advance notice from the U.S.S.R. regarding the plan. Press officer Lincoln White said this was the only comment he could make Thursday night.

The range for the Soviet test firings—which the Soviet Union declares are aimed at developing boosters for peaceful research vehicle launchings—could approximate that for the U.S. Atlas missile.

4,000 Miles
Assuming the launchings are from an area in eastern Siberia, the firing distances could be from 4,000 to 6,000 miles.

Income Tax Facts No. 3

Income That May Be Taxable

(This is one in a series of articles on federal income tax. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants and the Pennsylvania Institute of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

2nd Add 3-30 All Kinds Okay

All kinds of income may be taxable—your salary, dividends on stock (check the instruction booklet for special treatment of these), interest on bonds or savings, even prizes you win can be a tax headache. For example, a television quiz contestant had won a $3,200 outboard motor boat which would cost him about $300 in income tax, and a beautiful set of luggage (another 150 tax dollars). Then the going sounded announcing his special bonus prize... a whole year's supply of chicken feed. Everybody laughed, including the contestant, and his tax bill climbed another $25.

The value of a prize is considered part of your income even if you made only the slightest effort to win it. Reaching into your pocket for a quarter to buy a raffle ticket is sufficient effort, as is signing your name to a free entry blank. The fair market value of the commodity you win is the amount you consider income. If you earn $8,000 a year and win a prize worth $2,600 then your total income for the year, for tax purposes, is $10,600.

If you receive a prize in recognition of scientific, literary or other achievement which you would have performed anyway, then the prize is treated as a gift and you are not taxed on it. However, it is important that there are no strings attached to the gift. If a condition of the prize is that you give a speech or a series of lectures, then the prize is no longer a gift. It is considered a payment for services to be rendered. For example, when William Faulkner was awarded the Nobel Prize, he was invited to speak at the award presentation ceremony. Although he accepted the invitation, he could have declined without nullifying his prize. Since the prize was not predicted on his giving a speech, it was considered a gift and was not taxable to Mr. Faulkner.

The story is quite different with a certain young film actress. She was offered an award for acting, and was invited to be the guest of honor at a ball. When she said that she could not attend the function, the award was withdrawn. In other words, her award was actually conditioned on her appearance at the ball. Therefore, the fair market value of the award she would have received would be taxable.

Social Security Tax

The income you receive from your employers will be recorded on your W-2 forms which must be filed with your income tax return. If you worked for more than one employer during the year, you may have overpaid your social security taxes. The maximum amount of social security tax that should have been deducted from your total wages for the year is $120. If more was withheld, you can add the extra amount to the income tax withheld you show on your income tax return, regardless of the form you use. The form indicates the line on which the amount should be entered. This will increase the amount of tax you have already paid, and will either increase your refund or reduce the tax you owe.

Exclusions From Income

More and more employers are paying wages on an annual basis. In other words, wages are paid even though works are on vacation or are sick. For tax purposes, the wages you receive while you are sick are not always considered taxable income. Up to $100 a week of such pay is exempt after the first seven days of your sickness. However, if you are hospitalized for even one day during your illness, or if your absence is due to personal injury, then the first week's sick pay is also exempt up to the $100.

It is important that you keep track of any sick pay income you receive. Many employers do not distinguish between regular pay and sick pay on their records. The W-2 you receive may include your entire wages for the year, even for the period when you were sick. Since income tax will probably have been withheld from your non-taxable sick pay, you should not file the card Form 1040A since this form makes no provision for the exclusion of sick pay. You will also need to file Form 2440 with your return. This form is to explain your sick pay exclusion. You will note that Form 1040 and Form 1040W specify the line on which you can deduct sick pay that has been included in your annual income.

More Information

The instruction booklet you receive from the Internal Revenue Service together with your income tax forms, lists sources of taxable and non-taxable income. If you had any unusual income and, after reading the instruction booklet, are not sure whether or not it is taxable, you might call or stop by at your local Internal Revenue Service office. You should allow sufficient time to get answers to any questions that may arise before filling out your tax return. You will find the employees of the Internal Revenue Service only too willing to give you any help they can, but chances are, if you read the instruction booklet carefully, you will not need any further help.

Dear Abby

Give Him Another Excuse

Dear Abby: What do you think about a situation like this? My husband gives a "birthday party" every year for his wife.

who has been dead for nine years. He invites all their old friends. Everyone knows what the celebration is. It includes a trip to the cemetery.

I have no objections to my husband visiting his first wife's grave whenever he wants to. But this "birthday party" really gets me. Do you think I have to go?

SECOND WIFE.

Dear Second: You DON'T have to go. And neither does anyone else. Your husband is digging pretty deep for an excuse to throw a party. Tell him to discontinue this foolishness.

Dear Abby: I am 18 years old and Howie is 25. We had two dates and got along just fine together. After the second date he said he thought we'd better not see any more of each other because I was "too nice." How can a girl be "too nice?" Abby. What do you think he meant by this?

TOO NICE.

Dear Too: A girl can't be "too nice." What he meant was that he wasn't nice enough.

Believe him.

Dear Abby: I am the mother of two children. For the past eight years I have been fed up to the teeth with youngsters calling me by my first name. I teach my children to call the parents of their friends, "Mr. and Mrs. So and So." But their friends do not return this courtesy.

My husband doesn't like it either. He is a professional man and he is called "Mister" at the office. But when he comes home he is greeted by some little 5-year-old punk with, "Hi ya, Max!" This lack of respect is disgusting. What do other adults think of this?

IRRITATED

Dear Irritated: Not all adults resent children calling them by their first names. Some even prefer it. But if this irritates you and your husband, please remember that this is no indication of their respect, or lack of it. They simply haven't been taught otherwise. I suggest that you ask these children in a kind and loving way to call you and your husband "Mr. and Mrs. So and So." Children want to please, and usually respond beautifully to kindness.

Dear Abby: That letter from Old Timer provoked me. He said: "There ought to be a law forcing married women to stay home and not work until all their children reach 18."

I am a working mother and let me tell Old Timer that among my acquaintances the women who work are better mothers and have better behaved children than the mothers who don't work.

Plenty of mothers who don't work spend all their time gadding around and drinking coffee with the neighbors, completely ignoring their children. Although I am a working mother, I give my children more time and attention than many mothers who boast that they "stay home and take care of their families." Baloney! WORKING MOTHER.

What's your problem? For a personal reply, write to Abby, care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Financing Of Services Of Children's Society

By Walter R. McClelland
THE OPERATION of the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County began many years ago with slim financial resources. From those desperate times during the great depression it has achieved financial stability which, while not making the Agency completely worry-free financially, has enabled the Agency to carry on an efficient and carefully planned program of aid to distressed parents, children of broken homes, and families in need of counseling.

The original funds for the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County came from a Mrs. Carroll Tyson in 1931. She donated $10,000 to be used for services to children. In the ensuing years the Agency held separate fund drives in the community to support the Agency's services until in 1942 the Agency became a member of the Monroe County Community Chest. During these years the Poor Board, whose duties were later assumed by the County Institution District, paid for the board and the cost of clothing for the children for whom County assumed financial responsibility. In 1951 the CID also assumed responsibility for medical costs.

Come From Citizens
The great work of the Children's Aid Society could not have been carried on without the monies paid by the CID and the funds received from the Community Chest. Since all of these funds, which are tax monies or donations, come originally from the citizens of Monroe County it is of the utmost importance that each citizen understand the financial operation of the Agency, and that the financial operation is administered by an intelligent, well-informed Board of Directors.

Since 1942 the CID has paid over $321,639 of the taxpayers' money for board, clothing, and medical care, and $72,000 toward the administrative expenses of the Agency. In addition the people of the County, through Community Chest, have contributed over $133,000. The grand total of over $454,639 is actually far less than the total monetary value of the services purchased or rendered because foster parents are not adequately reimbursed for the cost of board, and because our local merchants, physicians, and dentists have been most generous with their goods and professional services.

During our current fiscal year it is estimated that the County Institution District will pay about $32,000 for board, clothing, and medical care of the children for whom they have accepted responsibility. They will also pay $8,000 toward the administration of our services.

The community Chest will pay the Society $11,000 toward the care of some children and toward administrative expenses. It has always been recognized that parents of children in the Agency's care should pay as much as possible toward the care of their children. It is estimated that $2,750 will be paid by parents in 1961. This figure represents an increase of 35% over parents' payments in previous years.

Additional Aid
Additional financial aid has been received over the years from the Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania. This year they have made grants totaling $1,600 for scholarships, board for a troubled child, and funds to establish an emergency foster home. The Society will give us an additional $275 during our fiscal year.

Use of office space and janitorial services are provided by the CID which has kept down the dollar outlay for administrative costs. The Children's Aid Society of Pennsylvania also provides us with free psychological testing, staff training, and an Adoption Service.

We are proud of the fact that in 1959 only 34% of our budget was for Administrative costs. Since 1937, a period when administrative costs in business and social agencies have increased rapidly, this cost has only increased 7% in relation to the total budget.

It should be pointed out that the major portion of administrative costs go toward providing casework counseling to children and families. Only in this way are we able to keep children in, or help children return to, their own homes. It accounts for the sharp decrease (54 to 39) in the number of children in foster homes and the sharp increase (3 to 55) in the number of children served in their own homes.

Without question the financing of this worthwhile Agency has been accomplished by prudent study of the CID, the Community Chest, the Board of Directors, and the fine Administrative staff. The Agency can and should continue to serve the citizens of the County in the same efficient manner in the years to come.

Snyder Starts 20th Year As Secretary

STROUDSBURG Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder is noting his 20th year working for the borough.

Starting as borough secretary in 1939, Snyder was named borough manager in 1957. When Snyder began his duties under Borough Council President William Kraemer, under succeeding presidents, he has served under Edward Gould, Randal J. Marsh, Earl D. Dennis, and presently with Edward R. Lawson.

Snyder is presently serving as assistant secretary for the Municipal Authority, and is also secretary of the Police Civil Service Commission. In the latter post he has served since the commission was formed in 1941. He is also on the executive committee of the Mid-Eastern Counties Assn. of Boroughs.

Insofar as municipal affairs are concerned, Snyder has been involved with almost all major borough changes since 1937, when he completed paper work for the building of the sewage plant.

Other work has been on the playground, water company and street repair work.

Highlights of his career have included the acquisition of the playground from the Kiwanis in 1940, the purchasing of the Monroe County Water Supply Co. by the authority in 1956 and the 1955 flood that kept all borough personnel working many days.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth. Funeral arrangements will be announced by the Lantierman Funeral Home.

Principal Munson Reviews Dungaree In Classes Ban

ALFRED W. Munson, principal of Stroud Union High School, yesterday issued a statement of policy concerning the wearing of dungarees and adopt instead the regular kind of trousers.

"This step was necessary, in the eyes of teachers and administrators, because the attire of boys was becoming a serious problem."

"This request met with instant, general approval of parents and students alike, and the request has continued in effect. Now, after a period of years, however, some few boys are forgetting that dungarees are not approved."

"Therefore, (I) feel that it is time to make clear once again our position on the matter."

Suit Occasion
"It certainly is true that we wear clothes to suit the occasion. When we go to a party, we dress appropriately. When we go to church or Sunday School, we dress accordingly. Similarly, when we go out skating or on a hay ride, we dress differently. When young people dress for rough, outdoor play or work, they use another kind of garb."

"If we dress to suit the occasion or our mood, is it not also true that our attitude may accord with our mode of dress? We feel that this is particularly true of young people. Too frequently along with the wearing of dungarees, goes an attitude, a frame of mind, habits and mannerisms that are anything but suitable to school."

Sets Up Problems
"In no sense do we ask that boys dress up or wear expensive clothing. The simple fact of the matter is that whereas, with the wearing of dungarees we always get problems, when boys wear the usual kind of trousers we have no problems. As for the cost involved, regular trousers cost little if anything more than dungarees."

"The basis of the Stroud Union High School's position on this matter is, then, that school can better serve young people when good habits of dress are followed. The request of the teachers and administrators of the high school, in effect now for several years, continues—that boys do not wear dungarees to school."

East Stroudsburg Joint Board Picks Committee

COMMITTEES were named by East Stroudsburg Area Joint Board School Board President Raymond Hartman at the meeting of the group last night in the administration building.

The committees and their members are:

Rep. Walter Introduces Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) introduced legislation yesterday to authorize the expulsion or deportation of any alien convicted of illegal possession of marijuana.

Walter told the House that the narcotic and immigration control laws need strengthening as a result of two recent Federal District Court cases in Southern California which he said "involved Mexican marijuana peddlers."

Misconstrued
Walter said the court, backed up by the 9th U. S. Court of Appeals, "completely misconstrued the law and bending over backwards not only permitted the two aliens involved to escape deportation and remain in the United States but to continue their shabby business."

"It has thus become necessary to make it once more abundantly clear, the California court decisions notwithstanding, that traffic in marijuana will result in the exclusion and deportation of the alien peddler."

The board was informed the sewage disposal systems at the Middle Smithfield and Smithfield Schools have been approved by the State.

It also approved the hiring of Mrs. Elizabeth Platt as a first grade teacher in the Smithfield School to replace Mrs. Thekla Clark, and set Sunday, Jan. 17, at 2:30 p.m. to tour the partially completed new school building on North Stroudland St.

UC Of C Elect, Receive Reports

Body Identified
TANGIER, Morocco (AP) — Police said Thursday they had definitely identified the body of a girl found in a sack here Dec. 16 as that of Helen Mueller, 19, of New York City. William E. Moore, 27-year-old Englishman, was questioned again by an examining magistrate about the girl's death. No charges have been filed against him.

Taxes Go Higher

The Associated Petroleum Industries of Pennsylvania issued a statement which said gasoline taxes to be paid in this Commonwealth in the first four days of the new year will equal total gas tax revenues realized for the entire 12 months of 1953. Think of it!

A five-cent state tax and the increased four-cent federal tax became effective on Jan. 1. Pennsylvania car owners are expected to pay $292-million this year in direct taxes on gasoline under this scale.

It predicted that collections would exceed $3,112,000 this week. This figure matches the gas tax revenue received in Pennsylvania for all of 1953 under the state's original one-cent levy. It was imposed that year for the first time.

The Petroleum Industries' statement contains this enlightening paragraph: "The real price of regular gasoline, excluding taxes, is 26 per cent lower today than its average price of 40 years ago. Other retail prices have soared far above the 1919 level, yet gasoline prices—except for the tax—are actually lower today. Only the tax is high."

As if to add substance to the tax situation in the petroleum industries, a statement has also been released by the tobacco industry.

It says $2.5-billion was collected in 1953 from taxes on retail tobacco sales. While it does not make comparisons with earlier years, the industry notes that taxes on tobacco, like the levies on gasoline, have been increasing steadily.

Opinions Of Other Editors

Necessity Is Great Goad

Dr. Clarence Long, the Johns Hopkins economist (also, part of the time, a politician), read an interesting paper to the American Economic Association in Washington the other day. It was a study of the inter-relationship of unemployment, productivity and inflation.

Dr. Long's investigations show that inflation slows down or halts when unemployment increases, and also that this country has had its biggest spurts in productivity and economic growth in times of considerable unemployment. He attributes this to three "effects."

One is the "lubrication effect" of labor supply that is available and eager to work, which encourages expansion of new firms and industries. Another is the "insecurity effect" which encourages the employed to turn in a better day's work.

The third is the "pencil sharpening effect" of declining sales and stiff competition, which compels managers to tighten up on their costs and produce more efficiently.

Like so much good scientific work, Dr. Long's paper simply confirms a number of things that everybody knows—things embodied in such common expressions as the "spur of necessity" and "necessity is the mother of invention."

Necessity is the key word. In the harsh history of the human race, necessity has been the great goad. The question today is what goad may be substituted when necessity loses its sharpness, as indeed it has most of the time throughout most of the western world?

Communism has found one answer. Communism substitutes compulsion for freedom. What's the answer where freedom reigns? We'd like to know.

The Pennsylvania Story

One For The Books

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — When Pennsylvania's lawmakers gathered earlier this week for the opening of the 1954 session of the Legislature — and then promptly recessed for three weeks to January 25 — they found themselves in a somewhat unique situation.

For once they were not beset by Governor recommending a tax program — unusual from the standpoint that expanding and rising costs of government almost invariably in the past have prompted chief executives to come up with suggestions for new revenue to meet expanded "demands."

Secondly — and this seemingly also somewhat unique — the session that opened this week is the first under the new annual session schedule, a schedule that calls for legislative sessions in even-numbered years (such as 1950) to consider only revenue-raising and appropriation measures. . . . Of course the answer lies in the fact that the budget for the two-year biennial period was already cleared by the 1953 session.

Note Of Optimism — Chitchat along Capitol corridors as the new 1954 legislative session opened this week definitely was one of optimism.

Gavel in the House and Senate fell marking the opening of the new annual session the day following announcement of settlement of the costly and long drawn out steel strike.

General reaction among lawmakers on Capitol Hill appeared to be one of relief and tension-breaking and a firm conviction that the economic breaks so far in as yet young 1954 preages a good economic year for the Keystone State — and such a year could do much to boost the State's sagging revenues.

High Road And No Road — One of the more interesting pieces of legislation that spluttered and died on the legislative vine during the past 1953 session when even a House-Senate conference committee couldn't agree centered around the perennial "omnibus roads bill."

This is the legislation that authorizes the state to take over the operation and maintenance of certain local roads from political subdivisions throughout the state — and obviously a pet among many lawmakers seeking to appease colleagues back home.

The session that ended this week saw a whopping total of more than 400 miles of such local highways embodied in the omnibus bill — which had it been passed would have added that many more miles to an already sagging $1,700-mile state highway system.

Now it isn't a question of the high road or the low road — it is no road at all!

Out Of The Past — Students of government should be interested in an autobiography just off the press written by former Governor and U.S. Senator Edward Martin entitled "Always Be On Time." An interesting excerpt from the book pertaining to his 1946 campaign for the U.S. Senate seat:

"The campaign of 1946 was a pleasant one. We campaigned in every county and our reception was always so encouraging. We had a fine ticket. My able Attorney General, James H. Duff, was the candidate for Governor; Colonel Daniel H. Strickley, a hero of two wars, Lieutenant Governor; William S. Livingston, the great orator, Secretary of Internal Affairs; and outstanding men for Congress and the Legislature. We had our greatest victory since 1928. We carried all but three counties."

(Addenda: (1) the campaign was destined to be the last "pleasant" one; (2) it was the last "great" victory for the Pennsylvania GOP; (3) with the exception of Martin, the others mentioned have been defeated in subsequent bids for public office either at the polls or in preliminary candidate selections.)

Try and Stop Me — by Bennett Cerf

ment, insisted upon betting his last $1,000 on an impossible long shot. The nag started at 80 to 1 and not only finished last, but dropped dead as it crossed the finish line.

The fan was bemoaning his luck when, to his amazement, the bookie returned his stake — plus eight crisp, new hundred dollar bills.

"But the horse finished last," protested the puzzled fan.

"So what?" shrugged the bookie. "You don't think I'd put down a bet on a horse like that? I took out an insurance policy on it!"

Says Children Forgotten

Dear Editor:

The current burning question of our community is — "Will the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County be maintained as a private social agency or is it to deteriorate in a political abyss?"

One fact on which we all agree is that the Children's Aid Society has given excellent care and guidance to children desperately in need of help.

When this agency loses its private status, funds from private sources will be withdrawn. Dedicated volunteers will no longer be available to donate hundreds of hours, and thousands of dollars from the Community Chest will not be forthcoming. Every service will be an expensive price tag!

Who will supplement this monetary loss? You — the taxpayer!

But the important nucleus of this controversy is the children themselves. Somehow they have been forgotten. These youngsters, their parents, and

Dear Sir:

The Stroudsburg Branch of the American Association of University Women, at an open meeting held Monday, Jan. 4, 1954 voted unanimously to ask that the County Commissioners reconsider their decision to discontinue the services of the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County.

This action was taken because of the association's deep interest in the welfare of dependent and neglected children. The group firmly believes that professionally trained personnel is necessary to direct the program and services required in this connection.

The association was also unanimous in its expression of confidence in the past and present operation of the Children's Aid Society of Monroe County.

Column For Candidates

Striving for the Presidency is a fascinating way of life for the lucky unlucky few. They are lucky in that they might gain fame, glory, wield much power and write history. They are unlucky in that the price of making history is to be broken by it. The higher the pinnacle, the more dangerous the fall. For White House aspirants the problems of the campaign are not only political and economic — but extremely personal. They must be equipped with moral endurance plus philosophical stamina will be constantly challenged and their spiritual strength severely tested. Glory is transient, the duties are arduous, and history is a stern judge. Presidential campaigns are accompanied by sounds of music and thunder.

The singing quality of a great honor plays a strange duet with the tumultuous overture of profound duties. Presidential hopefuls are endowed with the opportunity for exhilarating accomplishments and are condemned to solemn experiences. They are the proud inheritors of a noble tradition as well as the slaves of its responsibilities.

Horace Greeley exemplified the grim and glorious saga. He was a titan in politics as well as in journalism. It isn't generally known that he was one of the Republican Party founders. Oddly, Greeley had no intention of running for the Presidency until foes accused him of harboring such a soaring ambition. The accusation gave him the idea. He conducted a vigorous and intelligent campaign. The decision to run, however, was the most tragic blunder of Greeley's notable career. His health was shattered by the arduous campaign and his spirit broken by defeat. Weary and discouraged, he passed away several weeks after the election.

Greeley's most important political act was a behind-the-scenes maneuver. Prior to the 1860 campaign he and a political leader named William Seward were bitter enemies. Seward's nomination seemed assured until Greeley arrived at the convention and went into action. He pressured delegates into changing their minds. The result was they switched to another candidate — Abe Lincoln.

Idealistic citizens expect candidates to act with prudence, patience and a sense of dedication. Many frequently achieve such lofty concepts. Generally, however, they function as soldiers engaged in continual strife. The inevitable tumult has resulted in distortions, bombast, abuse and pure dirt.

The foregoing recalls the classic involving Charley Michelson, who quarterbacked many of FDR's touchdowns. He was once called in to help Jimmy Walker's campaign. The Democrats were worried about the mounting popularity of the opposition candidate as the election neared. "He's got to be stopped," Charley yelled. "Go out and dig something up on him!" Several days later, a lieutenant dashed into headquarters and breathlessly reported: "We've got it! We've got it! He's got a mistress!"

To which the worldly Michelson groaned: "Forgoshakes! Don't let that get around! I'll get him another 100,000 votes!"

Notice the smile on Ed Somers' face these days. What's the reason for the contentment look? Well the Voice's advertising man has just returned from Dallas, Texas after viewing the Cotton Bowl Fra game.

Somers was treated royally in the Lone Star State, occupying a seat on the 40-yard line and having all the accommodations tossed at the press.

In fact the local fan had such a good time in true Texas fashion that he takes his "press ticket" to bed every night and puts it under the pillow to remind him of a once-in-a-lifetime deal.

Saturday will be a big day for 49 carriers of the Daily Record. Circulation manager Jack Haswell will guide the winners of a recent contest to New York City where the lads will tour Brooklyn Navy Yard and later take in the Dick Clark TV show.

So neighbors if the paper is a wee bit late that day, think of the boys and the good time they'll be having in the Gotham. After all we all can't have our cake and eat it.

The Army and Navy Legion of Valor of the United States of America mag booklet carried a big story on the recent pinning of the Legion of Valor's Silver Cross on John McCoy for his call beyond duty in saving another boy's life.

The magazine also carried a pix of the presentation showing Stroudsburg's Distinguished Service Cross winner Harvey Possinger. The national organization also thanked Possinger for his efforts.

Speaking of top award winners from the services brings to mind that Stroudsburg's veteran of veterans Frank Majestic has been hospitalized.

Frank would like to hear from his many friends. Majestic is the gentleman who won honors in the Spanish-American War. He also served in the Philippines during General Douglas MacArthur's early career.

Interpreting The News Nation Needs Nonpartisan Action

By J. M. Roberts (AP News Analyst)

A GREAT many Americans have taken pride in recent years over the ability of their political institutions to operate effectively under divided party responsibility.

Now they are wondering just how much of this represents increasing political maturity and an ability to unite in the face of national danger, and how much of it will be replaced by cynicism and division during a presidential election year.

As Congress meets again, political reporters are almost unanimous in saying that politics will take precedence over the objective of pending legislation.

Yet there is a widespread feeling in the United States that the nation needs, however Utopian the thought may be, an atmosphere in which its legislators and officials, elected through a partisan system, would act in non-partisan fashion once they are in office.

Europe since World War II has made history's most direct approach to such an atmosphere in its establishment of the European Coal and Steel Community.

Members of the governing body of this organization are appointed by governments. Once appointed, they are expected to act not as representatives of the appointing powers but as representatives of Europe, switching their allegiance to international rather than national interests.

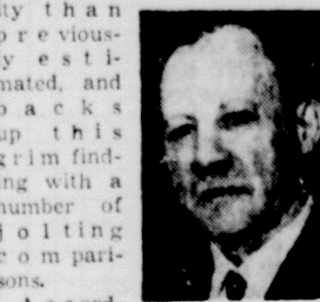

The attitude of government toward people, and how well it works — the attitude of people toward government, and how well they are satisfied — is a part of the choice which America offers the uncommitted peoples of the world in the contest between democracy and communism.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — A new Intelligence report gives Russia a far greater missile superiority than previously estimated, and a number of jolting comparisons.

According to this latest Intelligence survey, the Soviet has so thoroughly established the reliability and accuracy of four ballistic missiles, with ranges of 1,000 to more than 5,000 miles, that their designs have been "frozen" and they are now being mass-produced.

Russia — In 1959, produced an estimated 400 intermediate range ballistic missiles. This year, the output of these IRBMs, with ranges of 1,000 to 1,500 miles, will be increased to around 500.

U.S. — Last year, approximately 100 intermediate range ballistic Thor's and Jupiters were produced. This year output is being reduced to around 50. A key reason for this cutback is the refusal of France and other NATO allies to accept U.S. missiles unless given control of their nuclear warheads — which is barred by the Atomic Energy Act.

George Sokolsky Says...

Small Papers

It all started because of a belief that there is an inside story, something that is known only to an esoteric few. So newsletter writers and small newspapers, typewritten and mimeographed and printed began to appear.

They arrive from all parts of the country. Some deal with "inside" stories, something that nobody else knows, something that gives anyone an advance notice of events to come. Most of the material can be found in newspapers and magazines.

Some of the small papers deal with stock market information and while they usually avoid giving tips, their greatest value to the reader is that they point the way to an investment.

In a bull market, such information does little harm, except that as the small boys say, everything that goes up must come down. Most times the advice is given by such as do not invest because they have nothing to invest, but then they explain that is not necessary to be a horse to understand a horse, which is logic of a kind.

Then, of course, there are the hate sheets that fill the mail; hate Jews, hate Roman Catholics, hate Negroes; just hate because there is money in hating.

These scurrilous sheets must be very profitable because there are so many of them, all badly written, vilely printed, historically incorrect. Nevertheless, they come week after week and someone pays the postage.

Then there are the black-mail sheets. These unlovely documents are sometimes well-printed, on good paper and even cleverly written but always they praise someone so obviously that after an issue or two it is as clear as though put on a masthead, who pays the bill.

And always there is a defamation of character, an attack on an individual or on a business, a threat of more to come and an obvious indication that the subject to be discussed might find a way to have the whole thing dropped.

Red Missiles Superior

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — A new Intelligence report gives Russia a far greater missile superiority than previously estimated, and a number of jolting comparisons.

A key reason for this cutback is the refusal of France and other NATO allies to accept U.S. missiles unless given control of their nuclear warheads — which is barred by the Atomic Energy Act.

Russia — Now testing IRBMs and ICBMs, including operational and new models, at the rate of six per week.

U.S. — An average of less than three missile tests a week are so far scheduled at Cape Canaveral and Vandenberg missile center in California.

The Senate investigators will also question CIA director Dulles regarding a mysterious report that Russia has nuclear powered missile submarines. The first U.S. vessel of this type — the George Washington — was commissioned only last week.

According to the report that has been circulating in the Pentagon since Premier Khrushchev's visit last Fall, he is credited with having told President Eisenhower, in their Camp David talks, that the Soviet has three nuclear submarines, which are faster than any we have, and which are armed with operational ballistic missiles.

The Polaris, a solid-fuel IRBM being developed by the Navy for missile submarines, is to be operational by July 1, under an unannounced speed-up target date set by new Defense Secretary Thomas Gates.

Efforts to confirm Khrushchev's reputed claim have been met with silence at the White House. Inquirers have been told "this is an Intelligence matter."

Also slated for scrutiny by the Senate probes is the Air Force's abrupt halting of construction of an underground headquarters for the North American Air Defense Command, at Cheyenne Mountain, southeast of Pike's Peak, Colo. On the plea this project was essential for the defense of both the U.S. and Canada, Congress voted it $10 million last year.

Senator Johnson has been informed by Air Force authorities they suspended work on this key underground headquarters last month on direct orders from the White House.

The reported efforts to economize, add to balance the budget in this fiscal year, ending June 30.

Still More Trips — President Eisenhower is not only going to do considerably more foreign traveling this year, but he will also visit the two new U.S. states. That's what he is privately telling congressional leaders. He is saying he definitely intends to make trips to both Alaska and Hawaii before retiring from the White House, which means he has to do it in 1960, as his successor takes office next January.

Retired military officers who take jobs with defense contractors should be required to register as lobbyists do. That will be the major recommendation of the House Armed Services Committee, headed by Rep. F. Edward Hebert (D-La.), which investigated the problem of former military officers being hired by defense contractors.

The committee's findings, slated for publication next week, will also urge that all retired officers working for defense contractors should make public their salaries and expense allowances.

Walter Says Anti-Semitic Outbreaks Communist-Led

(Special to The Daily Record)

WASHINGTON—The anti-Semitic outbreaks in West Germany are Communist-inspired for the purpose of attempting to discredit the West German Adenauer government," Congressman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.), Chairman of the Committee on Un-American Activities, stated today.

"The facts are reported to me from unassailable confidential intelligence sources are that Communist agents have rounded up hoodlums and other disreputable elements to do their dirty work, which is to create an image in the public mind of a re-birth of the Nazi atrocities against the Jews . . . all part of a diabolical scheme to further Communist designs in West Germany," the Congressman stated.

Deplores Brutality

"The Communists know that world public opinion deplores brutality in any form and against any minority group. They know, too, that the Adenauer West German government is a bulwark of strength of the Free World. It is assuring to note that the overwhelming majority of responsible elements in West Germany are vigorously opposed to the anti-Semitic demonstrations and outbreaks and are determined to eradicate any recurrence of Nazism."

"This Communist technique follows the same pattern which was employed by Kremlin agents in Poland and other Iron-curtain countries as part of the program of subversion in those countries," the Congressman said.

Court Upholds Verdict Of Compensation Board

JUDGE FRED W. DAVIS yesterday dismissed an appeal by Kenneth Moyer against Paul L. Edinger, a contractor, from a decision of the Workmen's Compensation Board.

Moyer alleged that on Nov. 13, 1957, he suffered a back injury while dragging panels for a septic tank at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Testimony at the board hearing showed he continued to work to April 15, 1958, although he was subsequently hospitalized for a considerable period here and in Philadelphia.

His foreman at the time testified that he did not see Moyer injured on the job and that Moyer never told him he hurt his back by slipping or falling.

His Opinion

Judge Davis, in his opinion, wrote:

"The record is devoid of any evidence that the employer or his representative had any information within the statutory period that the employee had suffered any physical injury. . . .

"Since the evidence does not disclose that the employee gave the employer notice of an accidental injury within the statutory period, the appeal must be dismissed."

Gates Seeks To End Differences

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates has notified the Joint Chiefs of Staff that he wants to be informed immediately when disagreement arises among them. He said this is so that he can meet with them to try to resolve arguments at the outset.

Gates told newsmen he gave such notice at a meeting of the Joint Chiefs, service secretaries and overseas commanders at Norfolk, Va.

Gates noted that he is responsible under the law for settling differences among the strategy-making Joint Chiefs.

For the Supreme Court to order Templeton's reinstatement to an illegal or non-existent position, Charron argued, would be for the court to legislate.

The case was taken under advisement.

299 Area People Still Idle Because Of Walkout

THE STATE Bureau of Employment Security reported yesterday that 299 persons in the Stroudsburg administrative district of the Pennsylvania State Employment Service are still indirectly affected by the steel strike, which ended last week.

The local district includes Monroe, Pike, Carbon and Schuylkill Counties and the southeastern part of Luzerne County.

William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry, said the latest figures are for the period ending Jan. 4.

Throughout the state, 8,383 workers were directly and indirectly affected by the steel industry work stoppage as of Jan. 4.

Golfing Pros Start Out On Circuit

AFTER ONLY a three week rest, the small army of adult males that earns its living on golf courses is back at work. They have slipped on their uniforms of cardigan alpaca sweaters, golf slacks and colored shirts and polished up their 14 weapons.

Not all of the golfers were with the caravan last season many won't stay more than a week or so and only a handful will play in all the PGA events.

But until next December they face a schedule that's about as regular as hail storms.

For the rookie the grind is perhaps the hardest. In other sports he has only to worry about making the team or not. But in pro golf it's different, it's either win or quit eating.

Many of the newcomers have scraped several hundred bobs together to take a fling at the winter circuit. If they are able to win, they will continue. If they find the going too tough, they'll quit and return to giving lessons.

Wealthy Sponsors Back Touring Pros

Other fortunate rookies will be backed by golfing angels, probably the biggest single factor in the increase among the number of touring pros. These financial sugar-daddies will back a young pro for a year or two for a kick back on his winnings over a specified period.

Ken Venturi and Jim Ferree are prime examples of the new school. Venturi is backed by a San Francisco automobile dealer, while Ferree had the bills paid by a shipping line.

The newcomers also come out on the short end of pairings and galleries.

The rookies, unless off to a fantastic start, find themselves teeing off at 7:30 a. m., which means getting up at 5 if they want to get in some practice. And the trio's caddies usually are the only gallery that follow the early morning rounds.

The established pros don't exactly walk down a primrose path. They are under the same pressure to win as the new boys, although most of the older hands have contracts with sporting goods firms or the bigger country clubs.

Odds Against Winning Tourney Are High

The odds against winning a dime in any tourney are tremendous. In the Los Angeles tournament, 400 golfers will shoot for 30 money places. That means that 370 clubs swingers won't bank anything. And their expenses will be the same as the man who sacks all the potatoes.

Unless a pro can win $200 in any given tournament he more than likely won't break even.

He has transportation bills, at least a five-day hotel bill and the public expects the pros to stay at the best hotels or motels. He must eat all his meals out and many at the golf course where prices are tremendous.

He has caddy fees for four rounds of tournament play, practice rounds and time spent on the practice tee. He must pay for the use of a locker and to have his shoes and clothes kept in top shape. He must also pay an entry fee, $1 for each $1,000 of prize money.

And against all this outlay, three-fourths of the entrants have no guarantee of winning anything. Some pros will be paid appearance money and others get several hundred dollars under the PGA's top tournament plan, which basically is appearance money based on past performances.

It's a tough life both physically and financially and the tour you think the average duffer would change places with the touring pro—you bet he would.

Oklahoma Ban To Stick Says NCAA Until Details Of Fund Are Related

By JIM KENSIL
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. stood firm Thursday and said the University of Oklahoma would remain on indefinite probation until an Oklahoma City man makes known details of an athlete recruiting fund.

The NCAA Wednesday placed Oklahoma on indefinite probation and banned the university from participation in post-season football games and NCAA-controlled television programs. The organization said the ban would stick as long as Arthur L. Wood of Oklahoma City refused to divulge financial details of a recruiting fund which he administered in the period of 1952-54.

For Travel
In Oklahoma City, Wood said: "The money referred to was money I gave Bill Jennings personally to defray travel expenses for prospective athletes during a period from 1952 to 1954...the practice was not a violation of NCAA rules...as a professional certified public accountant I would be liable to a $10,000 fine for disclosing such information on a confidential basis." (The law actually reads $1,000.)

Jennings, now head football coach at Nebraska, then an assistant at Oklahoma, said "I received no money from Mr. Wood. I've been away from the situation for six years, and I do not want to become involved. I have no further comment."

Full Slate Of Games For Local Teams

SEVEN AREA high school games are on tap tonight. In the Lehigh Valley League, Stroudsburg is at Lehighton while East Stroudsburg is at Wilson Boro and Parkland at Bangor in the Lehigh-Northampton loop.

In the Monroe Scholastic, front running Barrett is at Coolbaugh, Polk is at Pocono Lake and Pocono Twp. is at Chestnut Hill. Southern Wayne entertains Delaware Valley in the other game.

The Cavaliers of Dug Schoonover, will probably be faced with the toughest task of any of the clubs.

In Wilson Boro, the Eastburgers face the loop's top team with a 4-1 mark. The Warriors be re-shuffled after tonight's action. Barrett could find itself back in a fire-place tie with Pocono Lake if it loses to Coolbaugh and the Lakers whip Polk.

Pocono Twp. favored to beat winless Chestnut Hill will go in to third place by itself if Coolbaugh is beaten.

have a potent scoring duo in John Telepo and Craig Fuehrer. The lanky Telepo is averaging 29 points a game and against Pen Argyl he pumped in 38, including 16 of his team's 18 points in the first quarter. Fuehrer scored 23 in the same game.

Switch Games
Stroud Union will be out for its second win in a row in the Lehigh Valley.

Palmerton thrashed the Indians 75-48 in the league opener Tuesday, while Stroud Union roared past Emmaus 89-58.

The Monroe standings may include 15 Southeastern Conference stars. Backbone of the North team is 10 players from the Big Ten, plus three members of Syracuse national championship team.

Good Passers
Charley Britt, quarterback for Georgia SEC champions, will direct the South with the assistance of LSU's Warren Rabb and Texas A & M's Charley Misteard.

Cincinnati's fine passer, Jack Lee, will head the North offense, aided by Olen Treadway of Iowa. A key in the North offense is Syracuse's Gerhard Schwedes.

has a number of schedules ready for the club owners' perusal when the league's annual meeting convenes Jan. 20 at Miami Beach.

He's ready for a 12, 13, or 14 team league, depending on what success the expansionist movement has.

"I hope the league doesn't expand," says Bert. "It's tough enough finding enough stadiums to open up with 12 teams."

South Slight Favorite In Saturday's TV Senior Bowl

By STAN ATKINS

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — The South is a slight favorite to edge the North in Saturday's televised Senior Bowl game.

The oddsmakers Thursday quoted the Southerners as a 3½-point favorite, possibly in the belief that Weeb Ewbank is making a habit of beating Jim Lee Howell.

Also, the railbirds noted that Ewbank has loaded his defenses, a formula he found highly successful in his Baltimore Colts' 31-16 victory over Howell's New York Giants for their second straight title playoff victory over the Giants in the National Football League.

Equally Matched
The squads appeared a standoff in workouts. The Northerners appeared not quite as big as the Southerners but possibly a shade the faster.

The overall weight averages for the squads put the South at 267 pounds and the North at 266. The South averaged 213 in the line, 223 from tackle to tackle, and 192 in the backfield. The North was 218 in the line, 226 from tackle to tackle, and 190 in the backfield.

Bert Bell's Son Says He's Needed By National League

By Ralph Bernstein
Associated Press Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—It's not just a saying to describe the late Bert Bell's son as a chip off the old block. Young Bert, in fact, is no chip, he's the whole block.

The 23-year-old Bell answers questions with the same candor as his father. He doesn't stop to formulate pretty speeches or words with double meaning.

For example, asked if he would like to remain in the National Football League office if the new commissioner to be elected in a few weeks moved the headquarters from Philadelphia, Bert replied:

He's Needed
"Yes, if it's because I'm wanted and not because my name is Bell."

At the moment he is very much wanted in the office ruled over by Acting Commissioner Austin H. Gensel. Bell, occupying the office of his father, is making up the 1960 NFL schedule.

He watched his dad work over the vexing schedule for hour-on-hour and was taught the problems involved and how to circumvent them.

Gillman Gets New Position With LA Club

Gillman, late of the Los Angeles Rams, Thursday signed a three-year contract to coach the Los Angeles Chargers of the new American Football League and declared:

"This is a tremendous opportunity and a challenge. It'll be a hell of a fight and I am happy to be part of it."

Great Respect

Gillman did not elaborate. But later he said he had nothing but the greatest respect for the Rams, who gave him the ax in December, and enjoyed every minute of his five years with the club and the National Football League.

It was believed Gillman will receive around $25,000 a year.

Cal Pulls Out Of Fist Group; Crime Cited

SACRAMENT, Calif. (AP) — California Thursday pulled out of the National Boxing Assn. with charges the NBA has been lax in combating hoodlum influence in boxing.

"California has repeatedly urged the NBA to develop an effective national regulatory program," the State Athletic Commission said in a letter of resignation to the association.

"Hoodlum influence" in boxing, the Commission said, has been proven by criminal conviction and investigation reports, and existing laws and regulations have not prevented hoodlum activity.

EAST STROUDSBURG State Teacher's College wrestling team seeks its second win in as many starts against Millersville.

The match originally scheduled for Saturday but pushed back a day is set for 4 p.m. in the college gym.

In the matters only other match, they defeated Lincoln prior to the Christmas vacation.

After today's match, the college is idle until Jan. 27 when it entertains Wilkes College.

Stroud Union Dominates Borough Scoring Parade

STROUD Union High holds three of the first five places in the inter-borough scoring race.

Todd Williams heads the hoop parade with 155 points in seven games for a 22.1 mark. He is followed by teammate Roy Loeffler, who holds a 17.5 slate.

East Stroudsburg's John Hindman is third with a 15.3 mark, while Leo Fraley of the Mountaineers is fourth at 12.5.

The Cavalier's pivotman, Bill Hillman, rounds out the top five with an even 12 point mark.

Mountie players also lead in all other scoring departments. Williams has scored the most field goals, 48, the most free throws, 59; despite the fact that he has played three less games than Hindman. Hindman has hit 58 field goals and 37 free throws for second place.

Single Marks
In single game marks, Loeffler takes over the leadership. He has the high point game, 32, against Scranton Tech, the most field goals in one game, 12, the same night.

Williams' 17 free throws against Emmaus is the top charity toss mark.

Williams opened the season with 11 points against Dieruff, the only time he has been held below 20 this season. He has scored 29 against Scranton Central and 30 against Eastburg.

Loeffler's second best performance was a 28 point outburst against Emmaus.

Hindman, a peppery back-court star for Doug Schoonover, has a high production of 25

International Duo Meet At Garden; Ortega Favored

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Stan Harrington, a newcomer from Honolulu, meets Gaspar Ortega, Mexican who has earned the nickname of the "Unlucky Indian," in Friday night's international boxing bout at Madison Square Garden.

Matchmaker Teddy Brenner, with a policy of new faces, really reached out for this one. Harrington never has fought as a pro outside the city limits of Honolulu. He came here as an amateur in 1952 and 1953. In 40 fights he has piled up a 34-5-1 record and boasts that he never has been knocked off his feet.

Radio and TV fans will be able to follow this one, too, with network (NBC) coverage at 10 p.m. (EST). Two judges and a referee will score it by rounds, using a supplementary point system in case of even rounds.

Ortega is favored.

Tough Go
Ortega's career seems to be just one split decision after another. He was last in the Garden Oct. 30 in a bout with Florentino Fernandez. Although the Mexican's efforts excited wide support among the television viewers he lost the decision. Naturally, it was split. His record is 51-17-2 and he, too, never has been stopped.

WINTER sports followers can look forward to an active weekend.
